

PETER STONE BROWN

Hi Bob,

Here's a tape of most of one of my favorite all-time Dylan shows. That was a great fall. Saw him three times in five days. As you will hear, he was in a pretty good mood at this show and said some pretty funny stuff.

"Let's Begin" is not a Dylan song. It was written by the same guy who wrote "We Just Disagree," Jim (last name escapes me.) Had one of his albums once, can't find it. It sucked anyway, but this is a great song--and for me was one of the highlights of a night of several highlights.

I have some other '81 stuff, all on tape--the New Orleans concert which is really great quality, (wish this show had that quality), and a show in Paris with William Smitty Smith--and you're right, his playing on "Girl From the North Country" is amazing. Saw him with Dylan earlier that year (June) at Merriweather Post Pavilion in Maryland (just outside of Baltimore). It was the first gospel/regular show of Dylan's I saw. (Saw one gospel show in Connecticut where he really pissed me off.) But the Merriweather show wasn't bad. He previewed a lot of stuff from Shot of Love like "Dead Man" and "Lenny Bruce." However, the fall '81 shows were far about that.

Anyway, hope you like the tape.

See you on line.
